

XENTRIS

exceptional service • innovative products

PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release

For more information, contact Shannon Bradley, 630-693-9726.

Addison, IL ..Xentris LLC today announced a new partnership with BlueAnt Wireless to distribute the company's Bluetooth technology products. Xentris LLC is one of the first companies in the United States to distribute the Australian company's products. The product line includes the award winning 'X3 micro' Bluetooth headset, the 'Supertooth II' Bluetooth Speaker and the A2DP capable 'Sonic' Portable Speakers.

"BlueAnt Wireless is the largest supplier of Bluetooth based accessory products in Australia and New Zealand and has some of the most innovative high quality Bluetooth products out in the market today. At Xentris, we are pleased to be one of the first companies to distribute the product in the US," said Bill Christy, CEO and President at Xentris.

BlueAnt's General Manager for North America, Peter George said, "We are pleased to have Xentris on board as we develop our brand in North America. Xentris are a growing, energetic company which is exactly what we are looking for as we develop our product portfolio in this region." He also went on to mention the significant growth that Bluetooth products are presently experiencing with 2006 global forecasts expected to be double that of 2005.

More and more wireless phones and devices are entering the market today with Bluetooth music capabilities. BlueAnt Wireless' product lines allow consumers to use this technology to play music through a variety of devices like speakers or headphones.

For more information on the products offered by Xentris, visit their website at www.xentrisllc.com. For more information on BlueAnt Wireless, visit their website at www.myblueant.com.

About Xentris LLC

Xentris LLC, a privately held company, is a world-class manufacturer and distributor of quality wireless accessories including aftermarket and OEM products. Major markets include the wireless carrier network and their supporting dealer and agent channel, retail and eCommerce.

About BlueAnt Wireless

BlueAnt is the largest brand of Bluetooth based accessory products in Australia and New Zealand. Its products are based on Bluetooth technology and cutting edge in terms of design and features. Further information can be obtained from the BlueAnt North American website at www.myblueant.com or by contacting Peter George on peter@myblueant.com